

The Wrong Direction

Passenger

When i was a [F] kid the things i did were hidden [C] under the grid
 Young and [G] naive, i never believed that love could [Am] be so well hid With [F] regret I'm willing to bet they say 'the [C] older you get
 It gets [G] harder to forgive and harder [Am] to forget
 It [F] gets under your shirt like a [C] dagger at work
 The [G] first cut is the deepest but the [Am] rest still flippin' hurt
 You [F] build your heart of plastic, you're [C] cynical and sarcastic and you [G] end up in the corner on your own

'Cos I'd [F] love to feel love, but i can't [C] stand the rejection
 I [G] hide behind my jokes as a [Am] form of protection
 I [F] thought i was close, but under [C] further inspection
 It [G] seems I've been running, in the [Am] wrong direction, oh no

[F] [C] [G] [Am] [F] [C] [G] [G]

What's the [F] point in getting your hopes up, when [C] all you're getting is choked up?
 When you're [G] coked up, and can't remember the [Am] reason why you broke up
 You'll [F] call her in the morning when you're [C] coming down and falling
 Like an [G] old man on the side of the road
 When you're [F] apart, you don't wanna mingle
 When you're [C] together you wanna be single Ever the [G] chase to taste the kiss of bliss that [Am] made your heart tingle
 How much [F] greener the grass is Through those [C] rose tinted glasses
 And the [G] butterflies that flutter by and leave us on our arses

'Cos I [F] want to feel love, but i can't [C] stand the rejection
 I [G] hide behind my jokes as a [Am] form of protection
 I [F] thought i was close, but under [C] further inspection
 It [G] seems I've been running, in the [Am] wrong direction
 There's [F] fish in the sea for me to [C] make a selection
 I'd [G] jump in, if it wasn't for my [Am] ear infection
 All I [F] really want is just to [C] make a connection
 But it [G] seems I've been running in the [Am] wrong direction, oh no

[F] [C] [G] [Am] [F] [C] [G] [G]

'Cos I [F] want to feel love, but i can't [C] stand the rejection
 I [G] hide behind my jokes as a [Am] form of protection
 I [F] thought i was close, but under [C] further inspection
 It [G] seems I've been running, in the [Am] wrong direction [Am] oh
